COMMITTEE DECIDES ON ROUTING SIGNS

Members of Chamber of Commerce and Selectmen Meet

INDICATE FOUR DIRECTIONS

Auto Crash Near Ice House—Bristol

Mfg. Co. To Sell Stock—Church

Notices—Firemen's Day—Election

Day Week Away—Plainville Briefs

The committee of the Plainville Chamber of Commerce met with First Selectman William J. Johnson yesterday and came to a decision regarding signs showing the routes through Plainville which are to be placed in the center. The combined committee decided that the signs should be permanent ones and projects which were offered will be put through provided the cost is not too great.

It is planned to place signs in front of the Neri Block pointing the direction out Whiting street to Waterbury and New Haven and pointing out East Main street to Hartford, Springfield and New Britain. In front of the taxi station at the corner of West and East Main streets another will be placed showing the way to Torrington, Bristol, Terryville and Waterbury. On the corner in front of the Russell property, signs will be also erected showing the way to Waterbury, Meriden and New Haven.

A resolution was presented at the last town meeting asking for the permission of the voters to have the selectmen spend $100 for this purpose. The resolution was presented in order to get the sentiment of the voters. All who spoke on the matter seemed to think that the need of signs was pressing and for that reason the selectmen should have them erected. Estimates will be sought on the signs and the work on them will be started in the near future.

Another addition in the sign line which would more than benefit the town would be to have at the entrance of the town a sign erected welcoming travelers to Plainville, and bidding them to call again.

It has been suggested that the Chamber of Commerce erect these signs without going to the town for money. The sign would read something like this, according to those who are pushing the movement: "The Plainville Chamber of Commerce Welcomes You," and one the rear of the same board, the words "Come Again."

Auto Crash Reported
A crash between a touring car and a small truck was reported to have happened near Cooke's ice house on the New Britain road last night about 9 o'clock. It was stated that the truck was backing out of the driveway going into the ice house minus a tail light and the other auto crashed into it. The Plainville police hurried to the scene, it was stated, but the parties involved had left before they arrived.

To Sell Stock
The Bristol Manufacturing Co. was granted an application made through the American Trust Co. of Bristol, temporary receiver, to sell stock on hand worth close to $700,000. A great portion of this stock is located in the Plainville plant and the unloading process will start immediately, it was stated today. The company will also dispose of three houses owned by it in Plainville at a price not less than the appraised value. The sale of the buildings and machinery was discussed but postponed because of the thought that both might be sold together, bringing a better price for stockholders.

SEEK REMAINS OF U. S. ABORIGINES

Hye Foundation Expedition at Work Near Gallup, N. M.

Los Angeles, Sept. 22.—Excavations of interest and importance to the world are being made at the Hawikuh prehistoric village site, about 30 miles from Gallup, N. M., by members of the Hye Foundation expedition of the American Indian, of New York, according to Capt. Thomas A. Joyce, archaeologist and vice-president of the Royal Anthropological Institute of Great Britain and Ireland, who made Los Angeles his headquarters preparatory to visiting excavation work at Santa Barbara and Santa Catalina Island, Cal. Captain Joyce passed considerable time at the New Mexico excavations.

"The chief present interest of the founder and director of the museum, George Hye," said Captain Joyce, "is the Hendricks-Hodge expedition which has made a number of important discoveries at Hawikuh. Other archaeologists are conducting excavations at Kechipauan, a few miles from Hawikuh."

"It is one of the richest archaeological fields on the American continent," said Captain Joyce. "The work now going on there, the results of which never before have been published, will undoubtedly throw a new light on our information relative to the people who inhabited America prior to its discovery by Columbus."

"Although the work of excavating the prehistoric ruins has just started, we have established without doubt that both Hawikuh and Kechipauan are two of the seven settlements known as 'The Seven Cities of Cibola,' seen by Vasquez de Coronado."

"Presence of iron on some of the top layers of the excavation signifies that the villages were ancient before the Spanish conquest. Other conclusive proof found is the gradual development of pottery uncovered. In the lower levels, the pottery is plain and it graduates into some very excellent examples as higher levels are reached."

"The excavations reveal that a succession of tribes inhabited this region in prehistoric days. They also show the gradual development of the human beings who lived there from the age of the crude stone implements up to the more advanced periods. Evidence also has been found tending to show that sometimes a considerable period elapsed between the passing of one tribe and the coming of the next."

"Articles unearthed bear a striking resemblance to the primitive utensils and other objects still in use by the Zuni Indians, on whose reservation Hawikuh and Kechipauan are situated."

"On the top layers we uncovered evidence of the natives' association with white men. These whites evidently erected a church and a monastery."

"Captain Joyce was accompanied on a visit to the workings near Gallup, by Mr. Hye and L. G. C. Clarke, curator of the museum of ethnology of Cambridge, England. The party is making a tour of the southwest inspecting museums and places where excavations are in progress."

The excavations, being carried on at Santa Barbara, Santa Catalina Island, and other parts of California are yielding a vast amount of data relative to the American aborigines, according to Mr. Hye, who says California is proving a rich field for the archaeologist.

BERLIN TRUCKMAN SEVERELY INJURED

James H. Durkee Sustains Hurts When Car Strikes His Wagon

IS THROWN TO PAVEMENT

New Team Will Start Season in Kensington—News in The Churches of Berlin—Berlinites Return With Large String of Fish.

James H. Durkee, well known in Berlin as the proprietor of a trucking business, was severely injured yesterday afternoon when a wagon he was driving was struck by an automobile on the Berlin turnpike about a quarter mile below the South school house. Mr. Durkee was thrown from the vehicle and sustained a broken arm and other injuries.

According to the story the Berlin man was proceeding north on the turnpike with a two-ton load of sand, two horses being attached to his wagon. The wagon was hit from the rear by an automobile also on its way north. The car was a Hudson with a commercial body attached and the driver was Carol D. Spiller of Lowell, Mass. The car is owned by P. C. Ayers, also of Lowell.

Mr. Durkee was thrown clear of the wagon and landed on his back some feet away. His right arm was broken in two places below the elbow and his back was badly wrenched. F. E. Williams happened to come along soon after the accident and he caught the horses, which had started to run away. One of the horses was badly hurt. It may be shot.

It is probable that Mr. Durkee would have been more seriously hurt, if not killed, had it not been for the weight of the sand which held the wagon down and prevented more serious damage. He is being treated by Dr. E. W. Smith of Meriden.

The injured man, about a year ago, was seriously injured by a buzz-saw and at one time it was thought that he would not live. The accident yesterday is peculiar in view of the fact that there were no other vehicles of any kind in sight when it happened.

An investigation of the accident is being carried on.
